WRITER GUIDELINES

Thank you for writing for us. We appreciate all the effort, thought, research and skill that go into writing a good article. We value all your hard work and your contributions to the success of our publication. Here are a few submission tips:

- Submit your article in Microsoft Word format via e-mail to klosavio@wiley.com. Use 12-point, Times New Roman type.
- Include a headline and byline in your document. Also, at the end of the document, include the full name, degrees, title and affiliation with city and state for yourself and all co-authors.
- Don't use:
 - Double spaces between words;
 - Embedded references (instead manually insert the numbers as superscript numbers, with a numbered reference list at the end of the article);
 - Abbreviations; or
 - All caps in running text.
- Do use:
 - Credentials after the first complete reference to a source (e.g., Philip Seo, MD, MHS, and Dr. Seo thereafter).
 - The AMA Manual of Style when creating your reference section.
 - Double-line spacing throughout.
 - Present-tense throughout (e.g., “Dr. Seo says” instead of “Dr. Seo said”).
 - Generic names for drugs, etc. If necessary, the brand name may be included in parentheses after the generic name on first use. Exception: When referring to a biosimilar, use both the biosimilar name and the name of the reference product. FDA-approved biosimilars as of January 2017:

Biosimilar	Reference Product
➤ adalimumab-atto (Amjevita)	adalimumab (Humira)
➤ adalimumab-adbm (Cyltezo)	adalimumab (Humira)
➤ etanercept-szsz (Erelzi)	etanercept (Enbrel)
➤ infliximab-abda (Renflexis)	infliximab (Remicade)
➤ infliximab-dyyb (Inflectra)	infliximab (Remicade)
➤ infliximab-qbtX (IXIFI)	infliximab (Remicade)
 - The % symbol and not the word percent with numerical percentages (e.g., 5%).

- Words for the numbers one through nine, and numerals for 10 and above.
- Acronyms, but on first use spell out the words, followed by the acronym in parenthesis [e.g., disease modifying anti-rheumatic drugs (DMARDs)].
- These special words/spellings:
 - nonsteroidal
 - email
 - website
 - granulomatosis with polyangiitis NOT Wegener's granulomatosis
 - X-ray
 - DXA
 - phase III trial NOT Phase 3
- High-resolution images. If you're submitting a photo, we accept both hard copy photos and also electronic images that are 300 dpi in resolution or greater at the size they will print.
- Figures and tables. Please include captions for figures.
